Notes for JACOB J. STRAUZ:

J.J. Strausz, my father, loved nature. He his lifetime he planted many many trees and flowers. He constructed several ponds on his properties and stocked them with fish. He usually had a row boat around for enjoyment of his family and friends. He had a real love for sacred music. Many hours he played his harmonica and accordion. His church was very important in his life. He was faithful in his attendance and support. He also taught Sunday School for many years. A stranger was not a stranger to him for very long for he loved to visit with people. He attended most of the auctions which were held in the area of many miles around his home. Many years before antiques were sought after items, he began buying up many articles. Many of these items needed to be reconditioned and restored which he himself did. He enjoyed explaining to visitors what various items were used for and also allowing them to relive some history. When he passed away, he had accumulated quite a collection of antiques which were donated to a historical society.
